To all those interested in team development in a faith-based organization, it's my absolute pleasure to recommend Dion Mcinnis and his LIFELines-based program.

I first heard about Dion through a training that he facilitated with our small group leaders. The results of his training were so powerful and life-changing that I had to learn more myself. I invited Dion to lead a three-session training with our church staff (made up of unique personalities, experiences, and wide range of ages) that powerfully reconnected and re-centered the group through the creating and sharing of each other's personal faith stories.

I thoroughly enjoyed my time with Dion and believe him to be a truly valuable asset to absolutely any team. He is honest, intuitive and sensitive to each individual in the room. Beyond that, he is an impressive moderator who masterfully connected us back to each other and to our relationship with Christ.

His knowledge of scripture and strength in his faith was a huge asset to the success of this training program with our staff. He shared his own story as well as anonymous stories from previous trainings with other groups to set the stage and provide a comfortable and trusting atmosphere.

Without a doubt, I confidently recommend Dion Mcinnis and his LIFELines-based program to help your team members write their own stories and experience this intimate and powerful training program first-hand.

In His service,

Pastor Dan Schepmann
